

SUPERIORITY

To say that people, things, etc. are superior to another in a particular way, we often use the structure

-er/more ... (adjective in the comparative degree/adverb)... than

E.g. Paco's clothes are more casual than Andrés's

Andrés is taller than Paco

Does Paco play tennis better than Andrés?

The UK isn't a hotter country than South Africa

We can also compare nouns:

E.g. Andrés's sister earns more money than her brother
